

DEREK KHOO
Senior Consultant

Derek has accumulated over 16 years experience as a marketing and communication specialist with the last seven years directly involved in the field of training and personal development. His experience in the field of training has seen him assume the roles of a trainer-coach, consultant and lecturer specializing in communications, team working and goal setting programs for both frontline and supervisory levels in the region.

His passion to impart knowledge has also seen Derek lecturing for universities such as Monash University and Deakin University in the area of Business Management, Operations and Marketing Management. His extensive work experience in these areas allows him to relate theory with practical day-to-day examples and situations

Derek trains and facilitates life-long learning skills, and his dedication has seen him constantly searching for new information resulting in improved programs. His training with the Master Trainer Institute of New York allows him to effectively deliver his classes and efficiently disseminate his information, always focusing on the learning outcomes for his participants. He has been a with Nu Quest as a Senior Consultant since 2003.

Get in touch with derek.khoo@nuquest.biz