

EDEN SIM
SENIOR LEARNING
CONSULTANT
(EDVENTURES)

Eden Sim has worked in the field of experiential education since 1997. Armed with a Business Studies background, majoring in Tourism and Leisure Management, she develops her passion to be a facilitator after attending Outward Bound New Zealand. In late 2003, Nu Quest Management provided the perfect platform for her to express her passion in the field. She started her career as an associate trainer first and later rose up the ranks. She is now Head of Nu Quest Edventures - a subsidiary and Adventure wing of Nu Quest.

A Senior Consultant with Nu Quest, her responsibilities include designing and delivering experiential learning and adventure based, as well as, designing and producing new innovative portable adventures activities.

Eden's outdoor experience comes from being an adventure trip leader to locations in West Malaysia and others. Her spirit for adventure is accentuated when she went on a month trek to Nepal and trekked the challenging terrains of Langtang and Annapurna Base Camp. Being very adventurous and wanting to immerse herself in the Nepalese culture, she even had her head shaved bald!
